A Rainy Day

By A.A. Milne

The rain is raining all around,
It falls on field and tree,
It rains on the umbrellas here,
And on the ships at sea.

Pretend that you are Winnie-the-Pooh and you are walking through the Hundred Acre Wood on a rainy day. What do you see? What do you hear? What do you smell?

Rainy Day Fun

By Mary Ann Hoberman

Rain, rain, rain,
Raining all day long,
Splashing in the puddles,
Singing a rainy song.

Jump in the puddles and splash around. Make a big mess and have some fun. The rain will wash it all away.

The Raindrops

By Robert Louis Stevenson

The raindrops are falling,
Hear them splashing,
On the roof and on the ground,
With a patter, patter sound.

Raindrops are like little tiny tears that the clouds cry. But don't worry, they're happy tears. The rain is helping the plants and flowers grow.

The Rainy Day

By Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

The day is cold, and dark, and dreary;
It rains, and the wind is never weary;
The vine still clings to the mouldering wall,
But at every gust the dead leaves fall.

This poem is a little bit sad, but it's also beautiful. The poet is describing a rainy day in autumn. The leaves are falling from the trees, and the wind is blowing. But even on a gloomy day, there is still beauty to be found.

We hope you enjoyed our collection of rainy day poems for children. These silly and lighthearted verses are sure to bring a smile to their faces and help them forget all about the gloomy weather. So next time it rains, grab a book and curl up with your kids for some laughter and fun.
