The ruins of Harwan, once the summer retreat of Mughal emperors, evoke an era of splendor and opulence.

But Kashmir's history is not confined to its ancient monuments. Suzanne delves into the region's more recent past, marked by the struggle for independence and the intricate interplay between different cultural and religious traditions. She visits the tomb of Sheikh Nur-ud-din, a revered Sufi saint, and witnesses the vibrant celebrations of Eid-ul-Fitr, a festival that brings the community together in joyous harmony.

brehtaking alpine meadow. The crystal-clear waters reflect the azure sky and the surrounding peaks, creating a surreal and awe-inspiring spectacle.

In Gulmarg, a picturesque hill station, Suzanne experiences the thrill of sledding down snow-covered slopes. The crisp mountain air invigorates her senses as she glides through the pristine winter wonderland. The Gulmarg Gondola, one of the highest in the world, offers a panoramic view of the surrounding mountains, a breathtaking sight that leaves her in reverie.

A Feast for the Senses

Kashmiri cuisine is a vibrant symphony of flavors, a culinary journey that tantalizes the taste buds. Suzanne indulges in the aromatic Rogan Josh, a rich and flavorful lamb curry, and savors the delicate Wazwan, a traditional multi-course feast fit for royalty. The sweetness of Kashmiri Kahwa, a fragrant green tea, warms her soul as she relaxes in the traditional ambience of a Kashmiri houseboat.

The vibrant bazaars of Srinagar entice Suzanne with their kaleidoscope of colors and aromas.
