A Passion for Adventure

From a young age, Valerie had an insatiable curiosity and a thirst for adventure. Despite her physical limitations, she was determined to experience all that life had to offer. At the age of 16, she embarked on her first solo adventure, a 10-day backpacking trip in the Canadian Rockies.

Valerie's passion for adventure didn't stop there. She went on to explore the world, summiting mountains, diving with sharks, and trekking through remote jungles. Her experiences not only expanded her horizons but also taught her valuable lessons about resilience, adaptability, and the importance of community.

Empowering Others

As Valerie's adventures gained recognition, she realized the opportunity she had to inspire others. She became a sought-after speaker, sharing her story and encouraging others to embrace their own dreams, regardless of their circumstances.

Valerie's message of empowerment resonated with people from all walks of life. She became a role model for individuals with disabilities, showing them that anything is possible with determination and support. She also inspired non-disabled people to challenge their own assumptions and limitations.

Valerie's unwavering belief in the power of human potential led her to establish the Valerie Doherty Foundation, a non-profit organization dedicated to providing educational and recreational opportunities for individuals with disabilities.

Breaking Barriers

Valerie's journey has not been without its challenges. She has faced discrimination, prejudice, and even physical violence. However, she has never let these obstacles deter her.

Valerie has used her platform to advocate for the rights of individuals with disabilities. She has spoken before government committees, met with world leaders, and worked tirelessly to promote inclusion and accessibility.

Through her advocacy work, Valerie has helped to break down barriers and create a more inclusive society for all.
